The local gaps are important to me as they give a sense of space and being in them engenders a sense of wellbeing. They provide a good environment, with clean air, opportunities for a diversity of wildlife to seek shade and shelter, and also provide water retention facilities, preventing flooding in wet months. I regularly walk the footpaths across these local gaps and want to see the unique character of Crookham Village protected from further development.

We need more than some cynical ‘mitigation strip’ which could quickly degrade into a vandalised piece of wasteland, or alleyways that attract drug dealers. Such limited strips would not be places where people would feel safe or from which they would derive the benefits to wellbeing that are valued in emerging public policy.

We should protect the existing gaps to achieve this because they are of sufficient size. It could be argued that they are already less than adequate due to recent enormous amounts of housebuilding and therefore should not be further reduced.
